

E-PUBLISHING VS. PAPER PUBLISHING

By Miguel Fco. González Pujazón

Nowadays we live in a multimedia time. Everything must be available to be read in PC, Tablet or smartphone. Else, literally doesn't exist, and press is not an exception. In order to keep alive, it has to set aside the physical format in favor of e-publishing. But is everyone happy with it?

I'm not gonna to lie you, of course it has his advantages. You can be up to date quickly as long as you are connected to internet. No need to buy a newspaper or wait for the news on tv. You can also double check and article by reading the source... If it has one

Because is obvious that there's a lot of new articles everyday and not all have a proper source. Yeah, the fakenews have existed for decades, but now every single article can clickbait you with a suggestive headline. And all those magazines with awesome layout from the 90's? Gone.

Of course, e-publishing is not just the future, is also our present, and the paper publishing is doomed. But, to be honest, going each month to buy my favourites videogame magazines is something that I really miss a lot
